The National Commission for the Certification of Crane Operators (NCCCO) is planning an expansion of its national certification programs with the addition of a new program: crane inspector certification. It is envisioned most of the development work for this new program will be conducted during 2010 and first quarter 2011.

Opportunities exist for qualified individuals to participate in these development activities. There are two main ways of participating:

- (i) As a member of the Task Force. A Task Force will guide the development of this certification program. Task Force applicants must be able to demonstrate significant expertise in their chosen subject area, and they must devote sufficient time and resources to attending several (6-8) in-person meetings during the anticipated 10- to 12-month development timeframe.
- (ii) As an Item Writer. Participation in item (question) writing activities also requires significant subject matter expertise, but the work commitment is less than as a full member of the Task Force. In addition, most of this work will be conducted via conference calls and email rather than through in-person meetings.

If you feel that you may meet the requirements for participation in one of these important roles, please complete the attached Application Form and email it back to joliva@nccco.org as soon as possible—plans are now well in hand for an inaugural meeting of the Task Force in Houston, TX, July 19-21, 2010. Your application will be reviewed by the Task Force chairmen and you will be contacted shortly as to your selection status.

Further information on the proposed development process is provided in the attached documents.

Sincerely
Graham Brent
